Supplemental Financial Assistance Information

FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

The Bryan University Financial Assistance Office is available to provide financial access to all students who qualify. Abiding by federal and institutional guidelines, we seek to meet our student's financial need and help students make responsible financial decisions. The University is committed to providing our students with information they need to make college as affordable as possible.

Bryan University's Financial Assistance Office is available to help make educational goals obtainable. Students must file a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (www.studentaid.gov) to determine financial need. All applicants for their programs must be United States Citizens or eligible non-citizens. Satisfactory Academic Progress must be maintained while attending the University in order to continue to receive federal or private financial funds.

Prospective students and their parents/spouses are encouraged to visit with a Bryan University Financial Assistance Coordinator for detailed information about financial assistance programs available. A student who needs financial assistance is urged to contact the University as early as possible. A student's financial package may be certified up to the cost of attendance at Bryan University and when disbursed, funding is applied to the student account. The University has the right to deny any student Federal Loans if the loans are deemed to be detrimental to the student's financial situation.

Financial Aid Direct Exchange (Formerly the IRS Data Retrieval Tool)

The IRS Data Retrieval Tool (IRS DRT) allows students to transfer data from their federal income tax returns into their FAFSA electronically. The 2025-2026 FAFSA requires 2023 tax information. Using the FA-DDX process can reduce errors on your FAFSA, as well as reduce the number of requested documents from the Financial Assistance Coordinator's Office. When students submit the request, the IRS will confirm their identity. For more information on transferring tax information to the FAFSA, click on the following link: <https://studentaid.gov>

Verification

Verification is a process to confirm the information students, and if applicable parents, provided on the FAFSA - Free Application for Federal Student Aid. Verification selection can be random or because FAFSA data was incomplete, estimated or inconsistent. The U.S. Department of Education selects students for the verification process; however, an institution also has the ability to select students to complete the verification process. Bryan University verifies all students selected by the Department of Education.

If a student is selected for verification, Bryan University requests that the student provide documentation to confirm the information reported on your FAFSA. This will include a verification worksheet and may include a copy of a tax transcript or tax return. If the student is a dependent student, we may also request a copy of the parent's tax transcript or tax return. Additional documentation that may be requested for verification may include but are not limited to the following: household size, number in college, child support paid or received, food stamps recipient, high school completion status and/or identity/statement of educational purpose. The student will be notified by the Financial Assistance Coordinator if they have been selected for verification. The notification to the student will explain what documentation the student will need to provide to the Financial Aid office to complete verification and how they may obtain and provide such information.

All documentation requested by Bryan University in connection with financial aid verification must be provided to the Financial Aid Office within 15 days, which may be extended, if the student can show that there is a good reason for the deadline to be extended. Students who fail to provide all required documentation to the financial aid office may not be eligible to receive federal student aid in their current term and in the future. Failure to provide the requested documentation may also prevent the student from correcting erroneous information on record with the Department of Education.

If the data reported on the FAFSA is confirmed, the Financial Assistance Coordinator can determine the eligibility for financial assistance and may prepare a Bryan University Estimated Financial Aid Offer and Tuition Financing Plan.

If the University finds differences between the data reported on the FAFSA and the information submitted, corrections to the FAFSA may be required. If assistance from students is required, a Financial Assistance Coordinator will contact students and notify them of the corrections process. Bryan University will submit corrections to the Department of Education via our third-party servicer, DJA Financial Aid Services, Inc. Once corrections have been completed and the school receives a verified Student Aid Index (SAI), we may prepare a Bryan University Estimated Financial Aid Offer and Tuition Financing Plan. If due to the verification process, a student's SAI changes and results in a change in the amount of the applicant's federal financial aid award, the student will be notified of such changes in writing.

Students are advised that Bryan University will report to any potential fraud or falsified information (on the part of the student, the parent, preparer of financial aid applications, or related parties) to the Department of Education, Office of Inspector General.

Anyone who suspects fraud or abuse may make a confidential report by contacting the Office of Inspector General at 1-800-MIS-USED (1-800-647-8733) or online at <https://oighotlineportal.ed.gov>

Entrance Interview

As part of the financial assistance process, the Financial Assistance Coordinator conducts entrance counseling as required by the Department of Education for student loan borrowers. Federal loans will not be issued until this requirement has been met. Entrance counseling may be conducted in one-on-one interviews, a group session and/or electronically. Student loan borrowers must complete the required entrance counseling documentation. The purpose of entrance loan counseling is to inform students of their rights and responsibilities as a student loan borrower. For more information regarding entrance counseling, click the following link: <https://studentaid.gov>

Entrance Interview – PLUS Loans and Graduate PLUS Loans

As part of the financial assistance process, the Financial Assistance Coordinator conducts entrance counseling as required by the Department of Education for graduate/professional students borrowing Direct PLUS loans, unless graduate or professional students have received a prior graduate/professional Direct or Federal PLUS loan. PLUS loans for graduate or professional students will not be issued until this requirement has been met. Entrance counseling may be conducted in one-on-one interviews, a group session and/or electronically. Parent PLUS loan borrowers are also encouraged to complete PLUS entrance counseling, however it is not required unless the parent borrower has an adverse credit history. If the parent borrower has an adverse credit history but qualifies for a Plus loan either by getting a loan endorser or being reconsidered due to special circumstances, they must complete special loan counseling for PLUS loan borrowers. The purpose of entrance loan counseling is to inform graduate/professional students and parents of their rights and responsibilities as loan borrowers. For more information regarding entrance counseling, click the following link: <https://studentaid.gov>

Exit Interview

At the completion of the student's program, withdrawal of the student's program or if a student falls below half time enrollment the Financial Assistance Coordinator conducts exit counseling as required by the Department of Education for student loan borrowers. Exit counseling may be conducted in one-on-one interviews, a group session and/or electronically. Student loan borrowers must complete the required exit counseling documentation. In the event the student loan borrower does not complete exit counseling with the Financial Assistance Coordinator, required exit counseling documentation will be mailed to the student. The purpose of exit loan counseling is to inform students of their rights and responsibilities as a student loan borrower. For more information regarding exit counseling, click on the following link: <https://studentaid.gov>

Financial Assistance Methodology

Awarding

At least once per award year, each Bryan University student is required to meet individually with a Financial Assistance Coordinator to determine their need for financial assistance and the financial assistance options they may qualify to receive. During a student's initial enrollment, once student need and financial assistance options are determined, a Bryan University Estimated Financial Aid Offer and Tuition Financing Plan, which outlines their initial financial assistance package, is provided to a student to accept or decline via either their physical or electronic signature. Bryan University may award need-based aid and other financial assistance up to the cost of attendance and adheres to Federal guidelines regarding maximum eligibility regulations. If credit balances are created on the student's account, they are paid from the fund source that generated the credit balance.

Bryan University awards future financial assistance in the same manner as the initially accepted financial assistance package unless directed otherwise by the student.

A revised Estimated Financial Aid Offer and Tuition Financing Plan may be provided to a student during their program enrollment. For example, if a student experiences one or more of the following: course repeats, program changes, schedule changes, Student Aid Index changes, etc. and a revision is required to their Bryan University Estimated Financial Aid Offer and Tuition Financing Plan, Bryan University revises the Bryan University Estimated Financial Aid Offer and Tuition Financing Plan and provides a copy of the Estimated Financial Aid Offer and Tuition Financing Plan and provides notification to a student via their Bryan University email account and/or their student portal. All subsequent revisions to a student's financial assistance package will remain consistent with the awarding methodology of the initially accepted financial assistance package. At any time during their program, a student may request (in writing or orally) adjustments to their financial assistance package or the manner in which their financial assistance package is awarded. This must be done by contacting their Bryan University Financial Assistance Coordinator. Adjustments to student's financial assistance awards are not guaranteed and may only affect subsequent awards. Revised Estimated Financial Aid Offers and Tuition Financing Plans generated by the University due to one or more of the following: course repeats, program changes, scheduled changes, Student Aid Index changes, etc. do not require a student signature. Revised Estimated Financial Aid Offers and Tuition Financing Plans generated by student request due to one or more of the following: request to increase loan funds, request to decrease loan funds, etc. may require a student's physical or electronic signature.

Payment Methodology

Bryan University determines eligibility for Federal financial assistance as dictated by the Department of Education. Prior to determining eligibility for the Federal loan assistance programs, the institution must determine the student's eligibility in the Pell Grant program. In addition, a determination of need for the Federal Stafford Subsidized loan must be made prior to awarding a Federal Stafford Unsubsidized loan.

Frequency of Disbursements

Bryan University defines an academic year as a 30-week period and a payment period as a 10-week period. Disbursements are scheduled each payment period. Financial assistance disbursements are made to Bryan University and applied to student's accounts for educational expenses. If funds exceed the cost of education, the credit balance is provided to the student.

Types of Federal Financial Assistance Administered by Bryan University

Federal Pell Grants

Amount: Awards based on demonstrated financial need, cost of attendance and enrollment status. For the 2024-2025 award year, the maximum amount is $7,395.00 and for the 2025-2026 award year, the maximum amount is $7,395.00. The federal government establishes Pell awards and reserves the right to modify Pell amounts at any time.

Beginning with the 2018-2019 award year, eligible students may receive up to 150% of the student's Federal Pell Grant Scheduled Award. Any Pell Grant received will be included in determining the student's Pell Grant duration of eligibility and Lifetime Eligibility Used (LEU) in accordance with section 401(c)(5) of the Higher Education Act.

Eligibility: Applicants must be enrolled in an approved post-secondary institution and in an eligible program. Students Pell eligibility is measured in scheduled awards and measured by the percentage of lifetime eligibility used (LEU). The maximum duration of Pell lifetime eligibility used (LEU) is 600%. If a student has used 600% or greater of Pell lifetime eligibility, they are ineligible to receive further Pell awards.

Who Qualifies and How to Apply: All students should apply; however, not all students may be eligible. Applicants' eligibility is determined by information reported on the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). Students can complete a FAFSA at <http://www.studentaid.gov>.

Federal Subsidized Stafford Loan Program

Amount: Awards based on financial need. For the 2024-2025 award year, the maximum amount of subsidized loans a student can receive is $3,500.00 for first year students, $4,500.00 for second year students and $5,500.00 for third year students and beyond. Loans have a fixed interest rate with a cap of 8.25% adjusted every July 1. The interest rate for loans first disbursed on or after 7/1/2025, and before 7/1/2026, is 39%. The federal government establishes student loan interest rates and reserves the right to modify interest rates at any time.

Eligibility: Applicants must be enrolled in at least half-time basis in an approved postsecondary institution and in an approved program and must demonstrate financial need. As of July 1, 2013, eligibility for a subsidized loan is limited to 150% of the length of the student's academic program. Once a borrower has reached the 150% limitation, student eligibility for an interest subsidy also ends for all outstanding subsidized loans that were disbursed on or after July 1, 2013. At that point, interest on those previously borrowers loans would begin to accrue and would be payable in the same manner as interest on unsubsidized loans. In June of 2021, The FAFSA Simplification Act, part of the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2021, provides for a repeal of the 150% Subsidized usage Limit Applies (SULA) requirements. New Direct Subsidized Loans disbursed on or after July 1, 2021, will received the maximum benefit of the regulatory changes.

Who Qualifies and How to Apply: All students should apply; however, not all students may be eligible. Qualified students are not required to make payments nor pay interest while enrolled at least half time; the federal government "subsidizes" the interest during this period of enrollment. Interest begins accruing during the grace period. Repayment of interest charges and principle begin six months after the student leaves school or drops below half time enrollment status. Applicant eligibility is determined by information reported on the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). Students can complete a FAFSA at www.studentaid.gov.

Direct Loan Origination Fee: Subsidized and Unsubsidized Federal Direct Stafford Loans that have a first disbursement date on or after 10.1.2020 and before 10.1.2026 have a 1.057% origination fee. The origination fee is assessed and automatically deducted by the federal government. Since the origination fee is deducted before the federal government disburses the loan to Bryan University, the amount credited to the student's account will be less than the loan amount borrowed. Origination fees are determined by the Department of Education.

Additional Financial Assistance Information:

National Student Loan Data System (NSLDS)

As required by the Department of Education, Bryan University reports enrollment data of student loan borrowers to the National Student Loan Data System (NSLDS). Changes to a student's enrollment status is completed by Bryan University. In addition, all Title IV loans are submitted to NSLDS, and student loan information is accessible by authorized agencies, lenders and other institutions. A student authorizes the school to release information to lenders by signing the promissory note as part of the loan application process. This authorization covers information relevant to the student's or parent's eligibility to borrower as well as locating the borrower.

Professional Judgment

The Department of Education accounts for student's unique situations by authorizing Financial Aid Administrators to exercise Professional Judgment to adjust data elements used to determine a student's Student Aid Index (SAI), components of a program's Cost of Attendance (COA) and/or dependency status. The two categories Financial Aid Administrators consider in exercising Professional Judgment are special circumstances and unusual circumstances. Special circumstances refer to the financial situations that justify making an adjustment to the data elements in the SAI calculation or the components of the COA. Unusual circumstances refer to conditions that justify an adjustment to a student's dependency status based on a unique situation and allow a Financial Aid Administrator to complete a Dependency Override.

If a student has a unique situation in either category of special and/or unusual circumstances, they may make a request to the Financial Assistance Office to review their individual circumstances. Upon review, Financial Assistance Coordinators will make a final determination on where a Professional Judgment is substantiated and make the necessary adjustments to reflect that decision.

Additionally, if a student has attended an institution previously and had a Professional Judgment determination based on an unusual circumstance that led to an override of the student's dependency status, that determination may apply at our institution. A review of supporting documentation may be required.

Students may make a request to the Financial Assistance Office via email or phone. When the Financial Assistance Office is made aware of a student's special and/or unusual circumstances, whether through student request or standard due diligence, the Financial Assistance Office will review such cases in a reasonable timeframe, but no later than 60 days from the date the request is received. The Financial Assistance Office may conduct an interview with the student and may request additional documentation to substantiate the student's situation. Any Professional Judgment exercised by our Financial Assistance Office is made on an individual, case-by-case basis. The Financial Assistance Office strives for consistency in the treatment of students with similar unusual circumstances.

If the Financial Assistance Office concludes a Professional Judgment is warranted, the Financial Assistance Office will determine which adjustment applies to the student's circumstances. If the Professional Judgment necessitates changes to the data elements in the SAI or the components of the Cost of Attendance, the Financial Assistance Office will document the new figures in the student file. Additionally, the Financial Assistance Office will generate a final determination of the review and whether a Professional Judgment was applied under their circumstances.

- If an adjustment is made to the components of the Cost of Attendance, the Financial Assistance Office will generate an updated Estimated Financial Aid Offer and Tuition Financing Plan.
- If an adjustment is made to the data elements used to calculate a student's SAI, the Financial Assistance Office will electronically make changes to the student's FAFSA and generate a new valid ISIR. When changes are made on the FAFSA with a student or parent's updated data element, the SAI is automatically recalculated and will be reflected on the new ISIR. The Financial Assistance Office will utilize the new SAI to generate an updated Estimated Financial Aid Offer and Tuition Financing Plan.
- If an adjustment is made to the dependency status of a student, the Financial Assistance Office will electronically make changes to the student's FAFSA and generate a new valid ISIR that reflects the Independent status and an updated SAI. The Financial Assistance Office will utilize the new SAI and Independent status to generate an updated Estimated Financial Aid Offer and Tuition Financing Plan.

Examples of Special Circumstances

- Loss of job/reduction in income
- Reduced earnings due to disability or natural disaster
- Death of a parent or spouse listed on the current FAFSA since completion
- Tuition expenses at an elementary or secondary school
- Medical, dental, or nursing home expenses not covered by insurance
- Unusually high childcare or dependent care costs

Examples of Unusual Circumstances

- Abandonment or incarceration of the surviving parent(s)
- An abusive family environment that threatens the student's health or safety
- The student being unable to locate their parents

Please note: All Professional Judgment changes apply only to data changes and apply to all Title IV programs.

Installment Contracts

Students may also have the option of an installment contract. Bryan University may choose to evaluate students and their situations and recommend this option to students only if all other financial assistance has been exhausted and a balance remains on students' accounts. Bryan University may partner with Tuition Options, Partners Financial Services or other third-party servicers to assist with the administration, disclosures, compliance requirements and payment collection associated with managing an installment contract.

Tuition Options – Installment Contract

Partners Financial Services – Installment Contract

If Bryan University offers this option to students, they are required to complete an application and may be required to complete a credit check and/or verify employment. If students are required to complete a credit check and it is not successful, a co-borrower may be required. A co-borrower may also be required if students are not employed. The universal credit authorization, understanding of tuition financing, and the placement checklist must be agreed upon by students. It is students' option whether or not they would like to set up the EZ pay authorization.

Any balance remaining on student accounts can be processed with an installment contract and repayment is scheduled upon completion or withdrawal of their program. A 30-day grace period may be offered with an installment contract.

Prior to October 28th, 2013, applications applied the following interest rates*:

- 1-3 Year Term (0-36 Months) - 7.5%
- 4 Year Term (37 to 48 Months) - 9.5%

Federal Student Loan Repayment Information

For most loans, repayment begins six or nine months after graduation, leaving school, or dropping below half-time enrollment. Students should use this time to get financially settled, determine their expected income and expenses, and select a repayment plan. Once students enter repayment, they must make payments on time to avoid delinquency and default.

Students have a choice of several repayment plans that are designed to meet their needs, including plans that base payment amounts on income. The amount paid and the length of time required to repay student loans will vary depending on the repayment plan chosen. The charts on the following pages summarize the repayment plans that are available for each loan type and the borrowers who qualify for each plan.

For more detailed repayment plan information and to calculate estimated repayment amounts under each of the different plans, use the Repayment Estimator at Studentaid.gov/

The repayment plan options below do not include PLUS loans made to parents, Direct Consolidation Loans and FFEL Consolidation Loans, or Federal Perkins Loans. For information about repayment plan options for PLUS loans made to parents, see the brochure Direct Loan Basics for Parents at studentaid.gov

For information about repayment of consolidation loans, see StudentAid.gov/consolidation. For information about repayment of Federal Perkins Loans, contact the school that made the loan.

Loan consolidation: If a student has multiple federal student loans, a student can consolidate them into a single Direct Consolidation Loan. This may simplify repayment if the student is making separate loan payments to different loan holders or servicers as consolidation will consolidate multiple payments into one payment. However, the student will need to review the advantages and possible disadvantages of consolidating before making a decision.

Once the student has selected a repayment plan, the student can change to another one with no financial penalties – although some restrictions may apply.

Payment Relief Options

If the student is unemployed, facing certain other personal financial difficulties, returning to school, or pursuing certain other educational or training programs, they may qualify for temporary payment relief on Federal Stafford loans. Federal Loan Programs provide two general options for student loan payment relief:

Deferment: If the student meets the qualifications for deferment and submit the required documentation, they are entitled to defer principal payments, in the case of unemployment or economic hardship, for up to a total of three years during the term of the loans. There is no maximum time limit for deferment while you are continuously enrolled at least half time in school or participating in a qualified graduate-fellowship or rehabilitation-training program.

Forbearance: If the student does not meet the requirements for deferment but still needs payment relief, they may appeal to the lender or loan servicer for forbearance. Forbearance permits the student to reduce or postpone payments or extend the time for making payments, usually at the discretion of the lender. A forbearance request typically is granted for a period of up to 12 months.

Constitution Day/Citizenship Day

Bryan University encourages all students to participate in our nation’s democracy. All campus locations recognize Constitution Day in September by providing numerous activities and opportunities for students to learn more about our country’s most essential document. In most cases, Constitution Day will be observed on September 17, except in years in which September 17 falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or Scheduled Holiday when it will be observed the following week.

Net Price Calculator and Cost of Attendance Information

Net Price Calculator

In accordance with the Higher Education Opportunity Act of 2008 (HEOA), by October 29, 2011, each postsecondary institution that participates in Title IV federal student aid programs must post a net price calculator on its website that uses institutional data to provide estimated net price information to current and prospective students and their families based on a student's individual circumstances. The net price calculator is required for all Title IV institutions that enroll full-time, first-time degree- or certificate-seeking undergraduate students. Bryan University's Net Price Calculator can be located at the following web address: <https://bryanu.edu/bryan-university-consumer-information-center/>

Cost of Attendance

What is the Cost of Attendance?

The Cost of Attendance, also referred to as COA, is an estimate of a student's educational expenses for a period of enrollment. The United States Department of Education requires that all institutions utilizing Title IV funds establish a COA prior to awarding and disbursing financial aid funds.

Our COA is determined annually based on average expenses Bryan University students incur while completing their programs of study. It is important to keep in mind that the COA is not necessarily reflective of how much it will cost you to attend Bryan University. This is due to the fact that we use averages and must include all components (even those that may not apply to you) in the COA.

Your actual costs at Bryan University will be largely determined by the choices you make. Such choices include the number of courses in which you enroll, and what type of standard of living you choose to maintain. When considering your actual cost, it is important to consider all these factors.

How is COA used?

The COA plays two major roles in determining the type and amount of financial aid you are awarded.

First, the COA is used to determine your financial need. For financial aid purposes, financial need is determined by subtracting your Student Aid Index (SAI) as determined on the FAFSA from your COA. Financial need is how we determine your eligibility for need-based funds such as the Federal Pell Grant and Federal Direct Subsidized Loans.

Second, the COA serves as the ceiling on how much financial aid you are eligible to be awarded. Federal regulations require that a student's award package not exceed COA. For this reason, when we are developing your COA, we want to make sure it is as comprehensive and accurate as possible.

What contributes to the COA?

The COA is comprised of various components including:

- Tuition & Fees
- Living Expenses
- Books, Course Materials, Supplies and Equipment
- Transportation
- Personal Expenses
- Direct Loan Fees

Again, averages are used when calculating the COA and for this reason not all categories apply the same way to all students. For example, a student who chooses not to borrow Direct Student Loans will not have the associated loan origination fees. However, this component must be included in every student's COA for consistency and to remain in compliance with Department of Education regulations.

Tuition & Fees

Tuition & fees are calculated using our standard tuition rate of $360.00 per quarter credit hour. Also assessed quarterly are a Technology fee of $200.00, a Resource Fee of $45.00, and a book fee if applicable. During your final quarter with the university, you will be charged a one-time Graduation Fee of $100.00. These are basic amounts. You may incur additional charges based on the courses you take. Please see detailed costs and fees for more information provided to you in your Financial Aid Offer and Tuition Financial Plan, and your Enrollment Agreement.

Living Expenses

Average costs for Bryan University student's living expenses include a standard food and housing allowance. Bryan University recognizes the allowances assigned to the cost of attendance elements for our students should reasonably reflect the actual costs incurred while they are enrolled in the educational program at our school. To meet compliance regulations, the data methodology we will use to configure those COA allowances will be to gather data from the Bureau of Labor and Statistics (BLS) Consumer Expenditure Survey. The Demographic Table of this survey is completed annually and shares the average expenditures for all consumer units by calendar year. This table is further broken down by geographic region. It is published in September of the following year to capture the prior year data. For example, the 2023 expenditure data is published in September 2024 and captures the average expenditures for the 2023 calendar year. The table is published on the BLS website under the subject Consumer Expenditure Survey. This follows regulations established under the FAFSA Simplification Act.

Bryan University is dedicated to offering comprehensive, updated programs that provide students the greatest opportunity for academic and career success. A continuous improvement process is an interregal component to the successful administration of any educational institution. Bryan University expends significant time and resources ensuring programs meet the changing trends of the job market. Relationships with employers and on-going research guide the institution through course and program enhancements.

Plans for Curricular Enhancements

All BU programs are under a continuous evaluation process. Each program at BU is analyzed independently with graduate outcomes at the forefront of the decision-making process. This process includes seeking direction from BU's adjunct faculty who are actively employed in their respective career field. Additionally, BU representatives remain active in the community, seeking input from qualified sources. Discovering upcoming trends as they relate to the national market, profession and education drives the institutions path toward program enhancement. BU is committed to developing students of today with career skills for tomorrow.

Academic Oversight Committee

During the 2024-2025 year the Academic Oversight Committee (AOC) will continue to assist Bryan University in the academic development process. It is the University's intention to continue its growth plans by developing a stronger presence in business and industry while researching and developing the best possible academic programs to serve the U.S. market. Policies and Sanctions Related To Copyright Infringement and Liabilities

Copyright Infringement Policy

WHAT IS COPYRIGHT?

Copyright is a form of legal protection to the authors of original works, in whatever medium, that is provided for by the laws of the United States to the owners of copyright. Copyright law applies to types of works that include, but are not limited, to literary, dramatic, musical, artistic, pictorial, graphic, film, and multi-media works. This protection is available to both published and unpublished works. Many people understand that printed works such as books and magazine articles are covered by copyright laws, but they are not aware that the protection extends to software, digital works, and unpublished works and it covers all forms of a work, including its digital transmission and subsequent use.

WHAT IS THE LAW CONCERNING DIGITAL COPYRIGHT?

The Digital Millennium Copyright Act (DMCA) was enacted into law on October 28, 1998. This act amended the copyright law to provide regulations for works cited in the World Wide Web. This act obligates the University to block access to infringing material when a copyright violation is reported. Students who engage in illegal file-sharing are subject to civil penalties from copyright owners as well as disciplinary action from Bryan University. Universities and individuals can be subject to the imposition of substantial damages for copyright infringement incidents relating to the use of university network services. In a civil action, the individual infringer may be liable for either actual damages or statutory damages of up to $30,000 (which may be increased to up to $150,000 if the court finds the infringement was willful).

In addition, individual infringers may be subject to criminal prosecution. Criminal penalties include up to ten years imprisonment depending on the nature of the violation.

WHY IS THIS AN IMPORTANT ISSUE RIGHT NOW?

Because technology makes it so easy to copy and transmit protected works, copyright is a serious issue. While Bryan University encourages the free flow of ideas and provides resources such as internet access to support this activity, Bryan University does not condone the illegal or inappropriate use of material that is subject to copyright protection and covered by state and federal laws.

WHAT KINDS OF ACTIVITIES VIOLATE FEDERAL LAW?

Following are some examples of copyright infringement that may be found in a college setting:

- Downloading and sharing MP3 files of music, videos, and games without permission of the copyright owner
- Using corporate logos without permission
- Scanning a photograph that has been published and using it without permission or attribution
- Downloading licensed software from non-authorized sites without the permission of the copyright or license holder
- Making a movie file or a large segment of a movie available on a web site without permission of the copyright owner

IS DOWNLOADING AND SHARING MP3 FILES (OR OTHER TYPES OF MUSIC FILES) AND VIDEOS ILLEGAL?

Yes, US Copyright Law allows you to create MP3s only for the songs to which you already have rights; that usually means you purchased the CD or downloaded a file via a subscription service. US Copyright Law allows you to make a copy of a purchased file only for your personal use. Personal use does not mean that you can give, or sell, a copy to other people. While some copyright holders do give official permission to download MP3 files and you might be able to find a limited number of videos that are not copyright protected. It is also true that some MP3 files are copyright free, and some MP3 files can be legally obtained through subscription services. However, most MP3 and video files that are shared do not fall into any of these categories.

Peer-to-Peer networks that share files are not allowed to be used on the Bryan University network. Some examples of the Peer-to-Peer sites include, but are not limited to, LimeWire, Gnutella, Kazaa, Bit Torrent, eDonkey2000, Frostwire, ZTorrent, BearShare, and the Pirate Bay. If this software is installed on a student's computer who is requesting internet access from Bryan University, the request will be denied.

A list of legal alternatives for downloading music, video, images, etc. is available upon request.

HOW DO YOU GET CAUGHT VIOLATING COPYRIGHT LAW?

A copyright holder represented by organizations such as the Recording Industry Association of America, the Business Software Association, and the Motion Picture Association of America are making serious efforts to stop the downloads of copyrighted music, movies, and software without purchasing it. By using automated systems, the companies or their agents locate possible copyright infringements.

Bryan University's network has a range of IP addresses and all computers connected to the network have an IP address assigned to it. When we get a violation notice, Bryan University will locate the IP address and whenever possible, the user of that address. At that point, Bryan University is required to act on the notification.

PUNITIVE ACTION FOR COPYRIGHT INFRINGEMENT

If a person is determined to have committed copyright infringement while connected to the Bryan University network, the following steps will be taken:

First Offense

- The DMCA Agent will issue a formal written counseling form. The agent will inform the student of the seriousness of the violation and the possible repercussions of further violations. The agent will also inform the student of possible methods to complete their schoolwork while also complying with copyright law. The agent will provide a copy of this counseling form to the student and will retain a copy for three years or until the student is no longer enrolled, whichever is shorter.

Additional Offenses

- For additional offenses, the student will have all internet access blocked until the campus Academic Manager determines the appropriate sanctions. Sanctions may include, but are not limited to, permanent blockage of internet access, suspension leading up to, and including expulsion.

Legal Alternatives

Legal Alternatives for Acquiring Copyrighted Material

The Higher Education Opportunity Act of 2008 requires an educational institution to offer legal alternatives to illegal downloading or otherwise acquiring copyrighted material. The institution must periodically review the legal alternatives for downloading or otherwise acquiring copyrighted material and make the results of the review available to its students through a Web site or other means.

Information Security Program

Policies and Procedures

Bryan University is committed to ensuring that copyrighted works are respected and used appropriately by Bryan University faculty, students, staff, and visitors. Our policies require those using our computers or networks to respect U.S. and international copyright laws and failure to do so may result in disciplinary action or termination of access.

This document serves as the "written plan" required of the University under the copyright-related regulations associated with the Higher Education Opportunity Act of 2008.

Addressing Unauthorized Distribution of Copyrighted Material

Bryan University addresses misuse of its network infrastructure for unauthorized distribution of copyrighted material through a variety of educational, technical, and disciplinary means. These include:

- Web sites, and Network Usage Agreements explaining the difference between appropriate and inappropriate use of copyrighted materials and the possible penalties of misuse.
- Network management technologies that may constrain the use of the network for purposes not directly related to the University's mission.
- Standardized, consistent handling of copyright violation notices, including validation of details, warnings to offenders, and disciplinary action when warnings prove ineffective.

The University periodically reminds its network users through email, web sites, and other means that:

- If an individual chooses to host or exchange files unlawfully, that individual will be personally responsible for any consequences from that activity. Ignorance of the law is not a useful defense. The University strongly recommends that individuals using Bryan University networks and computers learn the rules and the laws before sharing files online.
- Educational institutions are not exempt from the laws covering copyrights. Most software, images, music, and files available for use on computers at Bryan University are protected by federal copyright laws. In addition, software, images, music, and files normally are protected by a license agreement between the purchaser and the software seller. It is Bryan University's policy to respect federal copyright and license protections.
- Unauthorized use of software, images, music, or files is regarded as a serious matter and as such any use without the written consent of the copyrighted owner is prohibited. If abuse of computer software, images, music, or files occurs, those responsible for such abuse will be held accountable.
- Bryan University has compiled a list of legal alternatives websites for obtaining software, images, music, and files. This list is updated annually. The list can be found in the Legal Alternatives section below.

Handling of Potential Violations

When the University receives formal notification that a user of its network appears to be violating copyright, Bryan University:

- Validates that the complaint has been sent to the proper UW address.

- Catalogs the complaint with a BU service ticket number.
- Identifies the machine identifier ("MAC address") associated with the network address at the time noted in the complaint.
- Uses logs to identify the owner of the device, if possible.
- Sends the owner instructions requesting that offending material be removed from the network and requiring a response from the owner.

Internet access is restricted if the alleged offender fails to respond to the notice within 72 hours or if the machine owner has received a previous complaint.

University students receiving second complaints must meet with a university official before Internet access is restored. The target response time for copyright complaints is 10 working days or less.

Periodically Reviewing Effectiveness

The University will review the effectiveness of this plan on an annual basis during the summer quarter. The primary measure used to assess effectiveness at deterring unauthorized sharing of copyrighted material will be the number of repeat offenders, measured as a percentage of the number of overall complaints received.

Fraud Prevention

Help Prevent Financial Assistance/Scholarship Fraud

Every year, millions of high school graduates seek creative ways to finance the rising costs of a college education. In the process, they sometimes fall prey to scholarship and financial assistance scams. On November 5, 2000, Congress passed the College Scholarship Fraud Prevention Act of 2000 (CSFPA). The CSFPA enhances protection against fraud in student financial assistance by establishing stricter sentencing guidelines for criminal financial assistance fraud. It also charged the Department of Education, working in conjunction with the Federal Trade Commission (FTC), with implementing national awareness activities, including a scholarship fraud awareness site on the ED Web site.

As a student or parent seeking financial assistance you can help prevent financial assistance/scholarship fraud. If you witness the following telltale pitch lines used by fraud perpetrators, you should file a complaint. According to the FTC, perpetrators of financial aid fraud often use these telltale lines.

- The scholarship is guaranteed or your money back.
- You can't get this information anywhere else.
- I just need your credit card or bank account number to hold this scholarship.
- We'll do all the work.
- The scholarship will cost some money.
- You've been selected by a "National Foundation" to receive a scholarship or "You're a Finalist", in a contest you never entered.

To file a complaint, or for free information, students or parents should call 1-877-FTC-HELP (1-877-382-4357). Or visit: <http://www.consumer.ftc.gov/articles/how-avoid-scholarship-and-financial-aid-scams>
